

Exeter / Stratham Intermunicipal Water and Wastewater Systems Evaluation Study Final Report

The Rockingham Planning Commission recently released the final report on the Exeter-Stratham Water and Wastewater Study. This study was undertaken by the RPC to look at the issue of potential collaboration and the feasibility of collaboration regarding water and wastewater infrastructure. The report reviews issues such as capacity of Exeter's system, potential buildout of an envisioned system in Stratham, and estimated costs of Exeter and Stratham working together, or separately, into the future.

The complete report is available for download below.
